issued is dated June 1, and the legal tender notes, including compounds then outstanding, only amounted to

$230,397.77. The following statement of the total indebtedness of the Government at different periods shows that there was a reduction of their volume between June 1, 1905, and June 1, 1907, of $155,920,592.75:

1905.		1906.
June 1.....	$850,160,560	June 1.....	$694,140,460
December 1.....	$854,138,990	June 1.....	$568,878,860
October 1.....	678,132,948	September 1.....	585,116,110
December 1.....	620,230,038	October 1.....	584,677,430
		November 1.....	578,222,190
		December 1.....	532,923,297.75
1906.		1907.
January 1.....	$614,730,430	January 1.....	$525,989,630
February 1.....	612,651,284	February 1.....	514,469,170
March 1.....	605,994,414	April 1.....	509,022,190
May 1.....	598,213,358	June 1.....	562,320,977.75

If we deduct the decrease in the legal tender notes outstanding between the dates specified from the increase in the national bank notes we find that there was a net increase of the currency between the beginning of June, 1895, and the corresponding period in 1907 of $5,115,317.

The total national debt was as follows at the date mentioned, exclusive of the amount in the Treasury:

June 1864.	$1,740,336,689	May 1.	$2,327,076,875
July 26.	1,850,523,954	June 1.	2,700,379,450
August 1.	1,874,978,235	July 1.	2,701,410,008
September 30.	1,955,975,716	September 1.	2,728,313,828
1865.		October 1.	2,701,560,760
March 31.	2,360,855,071	November 1.	2,684,075,000
April 30.	2,378,783,783	December 1.	2,684,075,000

September 30.	2,741,941,726	January 1.	2,695,092,500
October 31.	2,740,864,785	February 1.	2,695,092,500
November 30.	2,714,633,204	March 1.	2,690,947,285
1868.		April 1.	2,683,713,879
January 1.	2,907,810,351	May 1.	2,698,875,000
February 1.	2,902,836,597	June 1.	2,687,000,000
March 1.	2,902,836,599

By the above it will be observed that there was a net increase of the debt between the end of June, 1864, and the end of Mar., 1867, of $947,003,980.

The value of the gold imported into England in the five months ending May 31, this year, was $4,483,907,500, as compared with £5,745,456 in the corresponding period of 1865, and £5,127,943 in the corresponding period of 1866. Of these totals the United States yielded £1,228,338, £1,957,392 and £1,374,984, and Australia £1,991,777, £2,179,925 and £1,162,582. The total exports of gold from British ports in the five months ending May 31 amounted to £2,563,024, as compared with £3,625,972 in the corresponding period of 1866, and £2,617,424 in the corresponding period of 1865. In these totals the exports of gold to France figured for £1,021,698, £2,472,935 and £1,257,348 respectively.

Respecting the taxes raised in France, a foreign journal gives the embejoned details:—

THE CAMP MEETING AT SING SING.
SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE OF THE HERALD.

SING SING, August 2, 1907.

The first gathering of the members of the Methodist Episcopal church, under the charter granted by the Legislature of this State to the "Camp Meeting Association of New York," which has been in progress during a period of nearly two weeks, was completely dispersed to-day. The success of the meeting in almost every respect, has been far beyond the expectations of the most enthusiastic advocates of this honored institution. From the commencement of the 22d ultimo, to the close this forenoon, a single the attendance. Any kind that was not taken place, as the order of the proceedings. Through the courtesy of the Metropolitan police, the speaker was able to state that the proceedings were under the watchful supervision of the presiding elder, the Rev. H. Harris, of Harris, Ontario, and his assistants, the ministers and brethren, no less than the exertions of a well disciplined detachment of Metropolitan police, which was sent to the scene to see that the proceedings were not unduly delayed. The proceedings yesterday evening were unfortunately interrupted by the rain, which came down in torrents, causing those who were present to leave the hall, and leaving the residue of the gathering to make a sudden detour for the railroad depot, en route for New York and other places. It was then that the miserable squalor of the hall, the stench of the filthy water, and the presence of a bog pen, was seen in its most sickening and revolting character. The drenched plight of the pas-disappointment, as into the numerous boarding lanes, the thousands of passengers were crowded. The crowd swelled the canvas habitations when communion of it was freely exchanged. The scene throughout the night was well calculated to make a deep impression on the minds of the thousands of people who saw it. How changed has been the appearance of the country! Now there are but few present, and those are only a few stragglers up their way, who are glad to be transported to their homes. Almost every person leaves the ground carries from a camp stool or the other articles of household, giving an appearance of the peaceful village, from the camp grounds to the depot, peculiarly reminding one of the peaceful village of the country. Even at this point one of the moral features of the meeting was not laid aside; however, the crowd was so large that it was impossible to be heard warbling the "Beautiful River," and for similar tunes, the strain of which was continued on the railroad cars and steamboats, and was only heard in the city of New York. The people were so simple tones of the sinners that many of the passengers unconsciously discovered themselves in the "Ivory Feet," which usually winds up the song with a little "Ivory Feet."

The tents will remain up until they are thoroughly dry when they will be stored in the cottage used by preachers, until required next year.
